Defense Exports

Maintenance of the Defense Industrial Base

Misconception towards Japan's Defense Exports

- Profitable for businesses ?
- Mass production lowers unit cost ?

○ “National Security Strategy”

created in 2013

“Engage in effective and efficient acquisition of defense equipment. Maintain and enhance defense production and technological bases, including through strengthening int’l competitiveness.”

o “Defense Production ▪ Technology Base Strategy”

created by Ministry of Defense in 2013

o “Three Principles on Transfer of Defense Equipment and Technology”

approved by the Cabinet

(Replaced “Three Principles on Arms Exports and Their Related Policy Guidelines” allowing for international joint development and production projects)

○ “Three Principles on Transfer of Defense Equipment and Technology”

→ Embodiment of Abe Cabinet’s “Proactive Contribution to Peace”

“Japan will contribute even more proactively in securing peace, stability and prosperity of the international community, while achieving its own security as well as peace and stability in the Asia-Pacific region, as a “Proactive Contributor to Peace” based on the principle of international cooperation.”

→ Aim of defense exports: Contribution to Peace/ Int’l Cooperation

- Defense export as defense/diplomatic policy
 - Selection of core technology
 - Maintenance of industrial base for SDF's defense capabilities

Japan's Donation of Second-hand Defense Equipment to Philippines

- 2017-2018
 - Donated MSDF's five TC90 (training aircraft) to PHL Navy
- 2016-2017
 - Gave aviation training to PHL Navy pilots
- 2017 - Offered maintenance, repair, and overhaul support sending private-sector personnel
- 2018 - Handed over UH-1H spare parts

Summary

- Industrial base maintenance as defense policy
- Growth promotion as industrial policy
- Defense exports as “Proactive Contribution to Peace”

Thank you so much for your attention.
